GOES HOME TO WEAR HER CROWN OF GLORY

Spirit of Miss Belle H. Bennett
Called To Rest After Life of Love and Work for Master

At the hour of 12:40 a. m., Thursday, just after midnight's deepest gloom, the spirit of Miss Belle H. Bennett entered into the eternal sunlight surrounded by the throne of the Master she loved so well and served so long and devotedly. She died at the home of her niece, Mrs. Thomas H. Collins, on Lancaster avenue.

This announcement will bring great mourning and deep and sincere sorrow, due to the potent influence which she has for many years exerted in her own community, her own state, throughout our country and in foreign lands. Through her great work for humanity she was a woman of national reputation, and was one of our country's greatest educators along missionary lines.

Although her illness extended over a period of several months, giving to her family and friends an opportunity to extend to her every tenderness and attention which love and devotion could suggest, she may be said to have continued her activities to the end. The multitude of letters which reached her during her illness bore testimony of her far-reaching influence and her inspiration to many lives.

Isabel Harris Bennett was born December 3, 1852, and was one of eight children of the late Samuel Bennett and his wife, Elizabeth Chenault, of whom only one survives, Mr. Walter Bennett, of Richmond, Ky. She grew into lovely young womanhood at "Homelands," the home of her parents at White Hall, near Richmond, Madison county, Ky., surrounded by every comfort that affluence could give. She was the joy of the grand old mansion of ante-bellum days, where an elegant and bountiful hospitality was dispensed through many years. Hers was a family that valued education, the sons taking their degrees from Yale, Centre College, old Transylvania, and other universities; and the daughters receiving their training at the best private schools of the day.

Miss Bennett received her early education from Dr. Robert L. Breck, an eminent Presbyterian divine, and one of the notable scholars of her day, where she became proficient in belles lettres and the classics. She later attended a private school at College Hill, Ohio, which ranked at that time as the best school for the training of young women in the West. She was later sent to Nazareth, a Catholic school near Bardonia, Ky. Endowed by nature with splendid ability and many noble traits of character, she carried in her presence dignity and graciousness and that personal magnetism which drew the most cultured and favored to her wherever she went. All the graces of Southern womanhood were hers. She was also possessed of those qualities that made her ever the center of a devoted family circle. Her closest friends were those of a life-time.

Any reference to this unusual life would be scarcely complete without mentioning those from whom she descended, whose qualities of leadership were, many of them, embodied in her character and career. She numbered among her ancestors those who were among the earliest at the founding of Jamestown; members of the House of Burgesses of the Colony of Virginia, those who led their troops in the Colonial wars; and those who aided in the defense of Fort Boonesborough and in the founding of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. In the century and a half, which have elapsed since pioneer days, many of her connections have served in legislative bodies; in two instances as Governors of states and members of the United States Senate; an uncle on the distaff side helped to frame the Constitution of Kentucky in 1849. The Hon. John Bennett, a brother, was for many years an able lawyer at the Kentucky Bar, and a member of the State Senate of Kentucky. In every way in which our country has been involved in her kith and kin have borne their part. It was under her kinsman, Col. Walter Chenault, that the young manhood of Madison county joined the army of the Confederacy, and it was typical of her broad interest, that, a few years ago when she found that no portrait of Col. Chenault had been placed in the Confederate Museum at Richmond, Va., she paused in her busy life to see that this was done, bearing the expense herself.

She was an honored member of the Boonesborough Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution. In all that she planned and executed she had the vision of a statesman, and it was possibly through qualities inherited from ancestors skilled in affairs of state, and from other ancestors of heroic minds, who were willing even to leave their native land of France in centuries gone by, that they might worship God as conscience dictated, that she found, as the years went by, her interest in the affairs of the great world, broadening and deepening, and became possessed of a constant desire to have a larger part in the work of making the world better through the service and fear of God.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of which she early became a member, had been the spiritual home of her family for several generations. It was thru this great body of consecrated men and women that she elected to do her part. Her supreme effort was for her own church, and yet so wise was her service that all Protestant churches became her beneficiaries. She had a great talent for organization. She also soon became a splendid platform speaker. For years, she was the foremost representative of the great body of the Southern Methodist Community at all national and international conferences where her words carried force and her wisdom great light. She was its representative at the great International Missionary Convention at Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1910; at the great Conference in Panama in behalf of Latin America in 1916; and at the International Missionary Council which had its first meeting in the fall of 1921, at Lake Mohawk, N. Y.

She was the only woman member of the joint commission that planned the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Missions of the two great Methodistisms, North and South. In 1920, Miss Bennett and Mrs. Luke G. Johnson, of Atlanta, Ga., were sent to Europe for the purpose of locating new fields of missions for the Methodist church, made possible by its centenary gifts. Through her broad travels and her work she came in contact with many of the greatest minds of her day and many of the most notable men and women of her time. Hers was also a gifted and forceful pen, and both by her pen and through the spoken word, she was ever on the alert to carry far the betterment of her generation. Perhaps the greatest missionary work of her career was the establishment of the Scarritt Bible and Training School of Kansas City, Mo., where hundreds of missionaries and volunteer workers have been trained for the fields, both at home and abroad. The raising of funds to establish this great school was Miss Bennett's first great public service. Her latest missionary achievement was the bringing together of a number of Women's Missionary Boards of America for the establishment of a great health center and school for the training of nurses in Shanghai, China. This is to be a medical school for the women of China, and be the consummation of a vision that was for years in her heart. In the city of Rio de Janeiro, South America, the largest institution of learning of her church is named "Bennett College" in her honor.

In the giving of her ability, time and strength, she gave also of her means to every cause in which she was interested. She attributed the success of every undertaking to the guidance and blessing of Him whom she served. In the world war she did her part. Her capacity for work was almost unparalleled. She not only led for years the missionary work of her church, but found time to give to the social side of life, to her individual church, to her community, her family and her friends, and to many advance movements.

She was an early advocate of the higher education of women. Through her influence many of her friends and her family became students at Smith College,

ONLY ONE GOVERNOR DEFIES PRESIDENT

North Carolina Executive Replies
Adversely On Coal Strike
Plan of Operation

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 20—The center of developments in the coal strike is steadily shifting today away from Washington and out into the coal fields where the policy of the government involving reopening of the mines under state or federal protection will be tested. Only Governor Morrison, of North Carolina, of the 19 governors who had replied, up to noon today, refused the co-operation the President asked in opening the mines. The nine governors who have not yet replied, are expected to send a reply within 24 hours. Most of the operators who came here to participate in the settlement conference were on their way home. John Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in preparing to leave, said the mine workers attitude is unchanged. He added, "the threat of military operation will not bring any satisfactory results to a suffering public." He characterized the strike as the "severest struggle the labor movement had ever engaged in."

Michigan Governor O. K.

(By Associated Press)
Lansing, Mich., July 20—Gov. Grosbeck in a telegram to President Harding today asked sanction of the federal government to take over and operate the Michigan coal mines under state control. His message asked if the federal government would join with the state in that project.

C. & O. CLERKS GO ON STRIKE AT WINCHESTER

(By Associated Press)
Cincinnati, O., July 20—Three hundred Chesapeake & Ohio railroad clerks and freight handlers went on strike here today. Nine hundred struck at Richmond, Va. Eighteen clerks and five freight handlers went out at Winchester, Ky. None struck at Louisville, Ky., where they are employed by a bridge company, which operates the railroad terminal.

Wellesley, Ann Arbor, Michigan, and Vassar. She was also among the earliest to unite with other members of her family in advocating suffrage for women. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union was another cause to which she gave earnest work and prayers. She enjoyed all that was beautiful in art, good in books and noble in purpose. The great progress of science and invention was an unceasing source of interest.

"As one lamp lights another
nor grows less,
So nobleness enkindleth nobleness."

These words inscribed in one of the alcoves of the Congressional Library in Washington, seem appropriate to apply to this life. The lamp, which burned in her heart, and led to the founding of schools; the training of missionaries for every land and time to constant journeys in her own land and in Europe, Asia and Africa, South America and the Islands of the Sea; to the founding of hospitals; to the promotion of education; to the protection of women and children and progress along all lines for her own race—and for every race,—has lighted lamps in a multitude of other hearts, which will not be extinguished until our Savior comes. May every ideal which she cherished, and every work to which her life was consecrated, be brought to fruition.

She leaves to her family, and her community, and her church, the priceless memory of a great and wonderful life. She was ours in royal service. "Blessed are they that love His appearing." Then truly blessed must she be, whose many years were given to this end, that the day might be brought nearer when her Savior should return to claim His own. "Oh! warrior blest,
Our fairest, choicest flowers
Shall fall in fragrant showers,
Where you rest."

The funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of her niece, Mrs. T. H. Collins, on Lancaster avenue.

NORRIS CONDEMNS FORD PROPOSITION

Nebraska Senator Delivers Scathing Report On Offer To Take Over Muscle Shoals

(By Associated Press)
Washington, July 20—In a comprehensive report submitted to the Senate today by Chairman Norris of the Senate Agricultural Committee, Henry Ford's offer for the purchase and lease of the government's war-initiated projects at Muscle Shoals, Alabama, is condemned in unusually strong language, while the Nebraska Senator's bill, proposing development of the properties under a government owned and controlled corporation, is described as "the most wonderful plan" that has ever been proposed in the history of the country.

On the question of the Ford bid, the report says, Senators Page, McNary, Keyes, Gooding, Norbeck, Harrell and McKinley, republicans, and Kendrick, democrat, concur with the chairman. With reference to the government ownership proposal, the report gives the names of five Senators, Norris, McNary, Gooding, Norbeck and McKinley, who favor its passage by the Senate for the solution of the Muscle Shoals problem.

The Ford offer is dealt with in unsparring terms. Its adoption, the report says, would put "the government of the United States into business with a vengeance," adding that "those who ask Congress to accept the Ford offer ask us, in effect, to lease this property to this corporation without any real consideration, and then in addition thereto, guarantee to repair and keep and maintain it in good condition for a period of one hundred years."

"It is difficult to harmonize our idea of Mr. Ford's fairness," the report continues, "with his silence on this subject, when his name is so often used in exaggeration and misrepresentation as to just what he does offer to do. The country has been given to understand that Mr. Ford has guaranteed to reduce the cost of fertilizer by one-half. He has done nothing of the kind. He has made no guarantee of any kind in the way of the reduction of the cost of fertilizer. The country has been given to understand that he pays the government four per cent interest on its investment in the two dams. He does nothing of the kind. He has no such proposition is included in his bid. Giving his corporation credit for every dollar that it pays, he will be paying to the taxpayers less than three per cent on the money which he uses out of the Treasury of the United States, and when we consider that this loan runs for one hundred years, it requires even the stretch of the imagination to understand the enormous profit that this corporation secures in this one item alone."

"Assuming that a fair interest rate in the commercial world is six per cent interest, this would give his corporation during a hundred year period, a total gift of cash of $236,250,000 and if this money were compounded as Mr. Ford asks the government to compound what he pays, the profit to the corporation at the end of the one hundred year period would be $14,500,000,000. This is more than half our total cost of the world war."

Other features of the Ford proposals are vigorously attacked. That proposing the hundred year lease of the water-power projects, the report asserts, would make the Federal Water-power Act, in effect, a "scrap of paper."

The document asserts that Mr. Ford is not claiming many things claimed in his behalf by many of "those who are spreading the wonderful propaganda over the country demanding that Congress shall accept his offer."

The statement is made that the government cannot afford to enter into "the loaning business at the expense of the taxpayers and for the enrichment of a great corporation, that under the very terms of its offer will be beyond the regulation of either Federal or State authority."

WEATHER BUREAU AND CROP BULLETINS

Summary of Weather and Crop Conditions in Kentucky for Week Ending July 18

Louisville, Ky., July 20—Seasonal temperature and generally fair weather were favorable for growth of vegetation and for outdoor work. Good local showers were beneficial in the northeastern counties, where the rainfall has not been sufficient and more is needed by all crops. Growth was satisfactory in other districts. Hay harvest is nearly completed. Threshing made good progress, but much wheat remains in the field in the northern counties. The condition of the grain in shock was improved by the dry weather and sunshine, but it is still far from satisfactory.

In most of the state early corn ranges in condition from very good to excellent, and it is generally good in the dry districts near the northeast border. It is tasseling and silking in northern counties and has passed this stage in southern counties. Except in the far northeast, where many localities are still quite dry, the moisture in the soil is ample to insure complete fertilization. Late corn is making good progress, but rains and wet soil have interfered with its cultivation in some of the western counties.

Early tobacco is fine nearly everywhere and a large part of it has been topped. There was some complaint of rust locally, where rains have been frequent and heavy. It is needed to cause spreading in the northern barely district. Late tobacco is growing well except in the latter section.

Pastures, gardens, clover and alfalfa improved in about three-fourths of the state. Cow-peas are in excellent condition, with a larger acreage than usual.

Planting late potatoes continues, with soil and weather conditions generally favorable.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR FRIDAY EVE

The Legion Band has prepared a very attractive program for the concert which has been postponed to Friday evening. A special request has been made that autoists do not drive around the square when they are not able to secure parking space by reason of arriving late. Both annoyance and inability to hear the music has been occasioned by this practice. The program for the evening will be as follows:

March Cushing Academy
Overture Enchantress
Vocal Solo Selected
Mr. Sam Deatherage
Group of Popular Selections
Cornet Solo The Comedienne
Mr. Wm. Malloy
Serenade Evening Breeze
March National Conclave

Chicago, July 20—B. M. Jewell, president of the six federated shop crafts, predicted today the railroads will capitulate and settle the strike within two weeks. He asserted the strike is becoming more effective, daily.

Traded Quart of Whisky For a Horse

A quart of whisky in these dry times seems to be really worth something, for Jay Prewitt colored, traded a quart of intoxicating spirits to a white fellow for a horse, as was shown by an affidavit in county court Thursday morning.

A lawyer stated that the negro said he afterwards sold the horse for $75.

Prewitt pled guilty to a charge of unlawfully and willfully bartering intoxicating liquor and was fined $100 and given 30 days in jail in the county court Thursday morning by County Judge John D. Goodloe.

Louisville, July 20—Cattle 300, slow and unchanged; hogs 1,100 strong and unchanged; sheep 4,200; active and unchanged; lamb $12.50 and $13.

LINCOLN FINANCIERS INSPECT BANKS HERE

Col. J. S. Hoeker and Col. Sam T. Harris, president and vice president respectively of the First National Bank of Stanford, are in town for a short visit to relatives and friends. They came over to inspect Richmond's four fine banks and obtain some ideas for the improvement of the building of their splendid institution which is soon to be made. Col. Harris, a close kinsman of the late Miss Belle H. Bennett, had not learned of her death until he arrived here and he will remain over with relatives until the funeral Saturday.

KERENSKY TO TELL HIS EXPERIENCES

(By Associated Press)
London, Eng., July 20—Startling revelations respecting the dethronement and death of former Emperor Nicholas are promised by Alexander Kerensky, one time President of the Russian Republic, who has been quietly writing his memoirs in a London flat. Kerensky's plan was to spirit the Emperor out of Russia to some neutral European country or to the United States, but this, he contends, was frustrated by Great Britain.

The book of the former Russian dictator will begin with the inception of the war and cover the final collapse of the empire. It will explain not only the causes of the Romanoff overthrow, but the failure of Kerensky's own government.

The writer declares that if the Allies had been willing to let Russia remain passive for a period, they could have kept her as a valuable ally. The book will point out that the Entente insisted on Russia displaying energy on the front while in the throes of a revolution at home.

His own overthrow Kerensky attributes to simultaneous pressure from the two extreme parties, the Royalists on the right and the Bolsheviks on the left, aided by the hostility of the army.

Strikers and Railroads Settle Down To Lengthy Fight—
Service Is Curtailed

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, July 20—While a considerable percentage of 3,000 railroad clerks walked out on the Chesapeake and Ohio, adding their strength to the railroad workers out on practically every road in the country, both strikers and carriers today settled down to an obstinate fight from which grew many disorders, annulment of nearly 300 trains and ordering out of more state troops to protect railroad property.

The threatened curtailment of service, due to shortage of coal supplies, made the situation increasingly serious.

The C. & O. hit by today's defections, is an important outlet of the West Virginia mines. Minor disturbances are reported from widely scattered points. Employees are being flogged and shot in a dozen instances by strike sympathizers.

N. C. Troops Ordered Out

Great Movie Mystery

$1000 REWARD!

1- UP RAN THIN OLD LOVE 6- IF MY PARD ROCK
 2- SAY HER CARL 7- AL MAN OR GET MAD
 3- DOGS BANK FUL AS AIR 8- NOBLER MAD MAN
 4- CHIP ICE RAN HALL 9- SAILOR WAS GONN
 5- I SAW HER ROB TRENNL 10- HIRE PET LAW

Can You Solve the Mystery?

Are you a "Movie" Fan? Here's your opportunity. Don't pass it up. We are offering a $1,000 Cash Reward, or a Humobile Touring Car to the person who can solve the Great Movie Mystery. Here's the way to do it.

In the picture above you will find the names of ten Movie Stars. The letters of their names have been rearranged. If you can straighten them out to spell their names correctly you can win the $1,000 Reward. The first name is—well, I'm sure you can guess. Yes—it's Rudolph Valentino, the great Movie Star. But that doesn't end your list and it will be easy to get the rest. Just to help refresh your memory I am naming some of the star actors: Curlye Hinklewell, Rudolph Valentino, Double Love, Nabel Normand, Charlie Chaplin, Vivian Martin, Douglas Fairbanks, Lila Lee, Gloria Swanson, Pearl White, May Murray, Harold Lloyd, Mary Pickford, Charles Ray, Valeska Suratt, Norma Talmadge and Herbert Rawlinson.

185 Points Wins First Prize

If you can correctly re-arrange the ten names of the Movie Players, I'll give you 100 points toward winning the $1,000. You will gain 60 more points by proving that you have shown a copy of The Rural Weekly to five of your friends. This will give you 160 points in all. The final 25 points will be awarded by the judges of the puzzle to the person who sends in the largest correct list of words made up from the letters in the name of the great Movie Star—"Rudolph Valentino."

Send in your name of the ten Movie Stars and your list of words together. Send them in NOW.

In making up your list of words from the name "Rudolph Valentino," only letters that appear in his name can be used.

A letter can be used in a single word only as many times as it appears in the name of the Movie Star. Only words found in Webster's Dictionary can be counted. Abbreviations, proper nouns, proper adjectives, prefixes, suffixes, obsolete, archaic and foreign words cannot be counted. Words spelled alike but with different definitions can only be counted as one word. By just looking at the name "Rudolph Valentino," you can see such words as "in," "tin," "run," "doll," "pin," etc. Number each word on your list.

The winning answer, or the one earning 185 points will receive $1,000 in cash. There are 25 Prizes, and in case of a tie, each tying contestant will receive identical prizes.

Send No Money—Costs Nothing to Try

Remember, folks, you don't have to spend one penny of your own money to win. All you need to do is introduce The Rural Weekly to five of your friends; but first send your answer to the puzzle, and if it is correct, I will give you 100 points. Then I'll show you how easy it is to gain the other 85 points necessary to win the $1,000 prize. Write the names of the ten Movie Stars correctly on a piece of paper, and send in right away with your list of words. August 1st is the last day to send in your answer. HURRY!

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used Mother's Friend and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Write for valuable, free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," the Bradfield Regulator Company, B.A. 22, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

FORD REPORT

ions of the Senate bill directing the Secretary of War to construct dams in the upper Tennessee river to equalize the flow of water throughout the year, and, the report says, more than doubling the power possibilities of Muscle Shoals. It adds that the government is about the only one that can afford to construct these reservoir dams. The storage of waters in the Tennessee river, the report claims, would automatically assist to a great extent in lessening the danger of overflow on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, thereby offering at least a partial remedy to flood control conditions.

The only objection made to the passage of the Norris bill, the report says, has been by those who are opposed to the government engaging in any kind of business, adding that "a fair consideration of all the facts surrounding the Muscle Shoals property will, we think, convince any fair-minded investigator that the government is amply justified in operating the government's property at Muscle Shoals."

The document concludes with a detailed comparison between features of the Ford offer and those of the Norris bill and emphasizing what it describes as the greater advantages the people will obtain from Muscle Shoals development under the latter proposal.

"Senate bill 3420 undertakes a new step in power development. It provides that the Secretary of War shall proceed to make surveys of the upper Tennessee and its tributaries with a view of locating dams for storage reservoir purposes. In order to get all of the power possibilities out of the Tennessee river, it is conceded by all engineers, this step must be taken. There are high water periods when there is too much water for use, and there are low water periods when there is not nearly enough water. If the flood water could be held back and let out at a time of low water, the power possibilities at Muscle Shoals could be more than doubled, and when we have once constructed a dam then the changing of any part of the secondary power into primary power is all clear gain with practically no additional expense. Without equalizing the flow of the river there is more power goes to waste than there is that is utilized. The most profitable way, therefore, to develop power on any stream is to consider the stream and its tributaries as a whole—to develop all of the power in its most economical form, and thus not only increase the good that can be accomplished, but very materially cheapen the product. The government is about the only one that can afford to construct these reservoir dams."

The report predicts that if the Norris bill is passed by Congress obligating persons or corporations building dams on the Tennessee river to pay their proportionate share of the cost of constructing the reservoir dams, it will be at once known that the power possibilities of the river have been wonderfully increased and it will be an inducement to persons and corporations to take leases on the Tennessee because they know that the stream will be equalized and the amount of primary power vastly increased at all dams on the stream.

When that is done, the report says, "the most modern, and the most economic development of power on the Tennessee river that exists anywhere in the civilized world" will have been made.

"It means not only increased manufacturing through the valley, but it means similar improvement through the South. It means the eventual cheapening of electricity to the poorest of the people as well as to the well-to-do and the wealthy. It means the transformation to a great extent of large portions of the United States. It ought to be welcomed by the entire country, but most especially by the people of the South."

Sale of the government's interests in the Gorgas Steam Plant to the Alabama Power Company is recommended by the report on the ground that there is no reason why the plant should be retained by the government, and that the Power Company's offer would give the government a return for its investment of a much larger per cent than has been received from the sale of

The Quaker Maid is a chain of seventy-five thriving, busy grocery stores operating in Louisville and surrounding towns and are the largest purveyors of food-stuffs in Kentucky. We buy direct from the Producer, the Canner, the Farmer, the Miller, and the Packer and sell direct to the consumer with only a small profit added. Every article handled in our stores is the very best that can be obtained and we specialize in Nationally advertised brands of food-stuffs in preference to private label goods of unknown merit. We also carry many necessary expenses such as Long Credits, High Rents, Delivered, Premiums, Trading Stamps, Etc., your goods reaching you by the shortest, quickest and cheapest route.

All of our goods are sold under the "Every-day Economy Price Plan."

which means that we do not cut the price of a few articles to use as "Leaders" or so-called "Specials" (1) or Bait, and then expect to make up the difference by charging higher prices on other goods. Every item is sold at cost plus a uniform percentage of profit, the price remaining the same every day, and changing only when the market fluctuates. Each day, therefore, this is for you—no worrying about getting there on Bargain Days. Just go any day with the fullest confidence that you are getting the lowest possible prices.

EUROPE'S "JEWEL JAG" OVER, MARKET SLOW

(By Associated Press)

Paris, France, July 20—Europe's four year "jewel jag" is about over and the Paris jewel trade foresees the passing of the crisis in the trade that resulted from the dumping of about a billion francs worth of stolen, confiscated and smuggled jewels on the Paris market. Leonard Rosenthal, the jewel expert employed to value the Hapsburg treasure, says the collapse in the precious stone market was prevented only by the war's creation of enough profiteers to absorb the over-supply.

This flood of jewels, Rosenthal said, came in three waves. The first was brought by fleeing Russian aristocrats who smuggled out family fortunes in their hair or sewn in the linings of their clothing. Sometimes valuable stones were swallowed to be removed by the use of emetics, and were even embedded in the flesh. One Russian prince sold for 3,500,000 francs a group of emeralds his ancestors bought two centuries ago for 480,000. One of the Czar's emeralds was sold in Paris for 32 times its cost. A Russian duke congratulated upon selling his jewels for 10,000,000 replied, "How can I live on 500,000 francs a year?" His pre-war expenditures in Petrograd varied between 12,000,000 and 15,000,000 francs yearly.

The second wave consisted of jewels valued at 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 confiscated by the Soviets. The third wave was the dispersion of the collections of king and kinglets, princes and dukes of Germany and Austria-Hungary. The Hapsburg court furnished the treasure of 10 centuries and for this Emperor Charles' agents asked 50,000,000 francs, but took between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000.

MRS. A. M. RITTER DIES AT ERLANGER

Mrs. A. M. Ritter, formerly a resident of this county, died at Erlanger, Wednesday morning, after a severe illness of several weeks. Surviving her are her husband and one daughter, Mrs. Walker Turpin of Erlanger, three sisters, Mrs. W. M. Stivers, Mrs. W. R. Riddell and Mrs. B. P. Riddell, of Kingston, and three brothers, James, Leroy and Scott Hart. Interment will take place in Richmond cemetery Friday at one o'clock. The sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved family.

Jim Chapman, negro slave, who was brought here from Africa and sold on the block at age. He had never worn a pair of shoes or smoked tobacco.

PAINS ACROSS SMALL OF BACK

Husband Helped in Housework—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Strong

Foster, Oregon.—"I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for pains across the small of my back. They bothered me so badly that I could do my work only with the help of my husband. One day he saw the 'ad' in our paper telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing for women, so I began to take it. It has helped me wonderfully. I am feeling fine, do all my housework and washing for seven in the family. I have been irregular too, and now am all right. I am telling my friends what it has done for me and am sure it will do good for others. You can use this letter as a testimonial. I will stand up for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound any time."—Mrs. Wm. J. HUNKE, Foster, Oregon.

Doing the housework for a family of seven is some task. If you, as a housewife, are troubled with backache, irregularities, are easily tired out and irritable, or have other disagreeable ailments caused by some weakness, give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. Let it help you.

CHURCH CAN DIRECT ALTAR WINE TRADE

Washington, July 19—Rabbis, ministers and priests, duly appointed by the heads of the ecclesiastical jurisdictions of their churches may supervise the manufacture and distribution of altar wines in their specified territories, under new regulations being considered tonight by Revenue Commissioner Blair in accordance with an opinion by Attorney General Daugherty.

The National Prohibition Act, Mr. Daugherty held, indicated an intention on the part of Congress to place in the hands of the church itself a power where by it will never be forced to use inferior products for sacrament.

al use nor ever be left without means of supplying its needs for sacramental wines.

"The intent of Congress is clear," he held, "to abolish the business of the middleman or retail distributor of sacramental wines, but the intent is equally apparent to permit the church, if it agrees to assume the responsibility, through its duly authorized rabbi, priest or minister, full power to supervise the manufacture of altar wines, and it is my opinion that the specific grant of the great privilege of the supervision of manufacture carries with it the lesser privilege of supervision of distribution."

The opinion ends a long fight by various religious bodies which claimed the elimination of the sacramental wine dealers from business through the denial of Treasury permits, shut off all legitimate channels for obtaining proper wines for sacramental purposes and forced the churches to use the spirits of uncertain standards.

David Logan was the second treasurer of Kentucky. He served from 1807, when John Logan's service ended, through 1808.

Fayette county contained 12,58 head of beef cattle; 12,127 sheep; 19,271 swine; 5,829 horses and 2,610 mules in 1920.

Christopher Greenup was the third governor of Kentucky. He served from June 1, 1804 to June 1, 1808.

There have been 415 deaths among Confederate Veterans at the Kentucky Confederate Home at Pewee Valley since its foundation on March 27, 1902.

Volume Savings Permit Greater Value

There are hundreds of parts in a motor car. Many companies buy all, some makers build a few, of the parts that go to make up a complete motor car. For every part they buy, a partsmaker's profit must be included in the final price.

Studebaker builds every vital part. Motors, bodies, faxes, transmissions, frames, tops and other parts are designed and manufactured completely from raw material to finished product in Studebaker plants, under Studebaker control and inspection.

The savings, because of tremendous volume, give the buyer extraordinary value.

Complete manufacture also explains the uniform high quality that you get in a Studebaker car, whether it is a Light-Six, a Special-Six or a Big-Six.

And uniform high quality has made Studebaker cars known everywhere for their dependable performance in owners' use.
